

REVEAL the hidden opportunity with a business process review

reduce waste ◆ increase throughput ◆ improve quality

How well is your team performing?

The team at Kallista Consulting has decades of combined experience in helping services businesses to improve their productivity. This experience enables us to rapidly identify the root causes of problems that erode productivity and design countermeasure strategies.

During a Kallista Consulting Business Review, our consultants facilitate interactive workshops and walkthroughs with your teams to create current state maps of your core value streams. During these sessions we identify process bottlenecks, sources of defects, problematic plant and equipment, insufficient skills and information and logistics and supply chain problems.

These are documented into a prioritised list of opportunities typically targeted to:

- Increase process capacity and throughput speed
- Reduce defects & improve quality
- Improve supply chain management and response
- Improve teamwork and communication

The output of the business process review is a report including the value stream maps, the issues identified and a set of project plans outlining how to proceed with implementing improvements, which, of course, we can also assist with through one of our Business Transformation Programs.
